Question 2 (4 marks)
Use one of the texts that you studied this year to discuss how the production element of acting is used to communicate the genre(s) or style(s) of the narrative. Use specific examples from the chosen text to support your response.
Question 3 (6 marks)
The settings used within a text can provide the audience with information about the time, place and ideas represented in a narrative. Settings may also have a deeper, symbolic function.

Analyse the function of the setting(s) in one text that you studied this year, explaining how the setting(s) helps to communicate ideas and engage the audience. You must use a different text from the one discussed in Question 2.
Question 4 (8 marks)
Discuss the resolution of two narrative texts that you studied this year. Throughout your discussion, compare how a production element and a story element function to resolve each narrative.
SECTION B – Media texts and society’s values

Name the texts that you studied for media texts and society’s values this year.

Question 1 (1 mark)
Define the term ‘emerging value’.

Question 2 (2 marks)
Describe an idea, an attitude or a discourse that is evident in a text that you studied this year.
Question 3 (6 marks)
Identify a dominant value relating to an idea, an attitude or a discourse. Discuss how this value has been represented in at least two of the media texts that you studied this year.
Question 4 (8 marks)
Analyse the relationship between a dominant value and either an emerging value or an oppositional value. Explain how a representation of each value reflects the society of its production.
In your response, refer to the text(s) that you studied this year. You may use the same dominant value that you identified in Question 3.
Question 5 (6 marks)
Analyse how a social issue or discourse evolves from society’s values, as reflected in the media texts that you studied this year.
Question 1 (5 marks)
a. Identify one communication model or theory that is used to suggest that the media has little influence on audiences.

b. Discuss the arguments and evidence used to support the communication model or theory that you identified in part a.
Question 2 (6 marks)
The media is subject to regulation that may define standards, set limitations or place ethical parameters on it.

a. Explain a form of media regulation. 2 marks

b. Discuss two arguments in favour of this type of media regulation. 4 marks
Question 3 (10 marks)
Discuss the influence that media forms and texts can have on an audience.
In your response, include the following:
• an example where the media is claimed to have had an influence on a specific audience
• relevant communication models and theories used to explain the influence
• substantiated arguments about the claims made in the example
Extra space for responses
