Document B
The streets here, [in] spite of the fine weather drawing off immense numbers daily to the diggings, are crowded with rude-looking diggers and hosts of immigrants, with their wives, their bundles, and their dogs. All down, near the wharves, it is a scene of dust, drays and carts hurrying to and fro, and heaps of boxes, trunks, bundles, and digging-tools. Here you see ships unloading all kinds of goods, and scores of drays fetching them away, making it almost impossible to pass among them without being crushed; and the fellows are not at all mindful of you. It is every man’s business to take care of himself here. They are just as independent in their speech as in their actions. It is a wonderful place to take the conceit out of men who expect much deference*. The Governor was yesterday riding along among this crew, attended by one soldier; but not the slightest notice was taken of him, not even by a touch of the hat.

* It is a wonderful place to make proud men more humble.

Letter dated 29 September 1852 in William Howitt’s Land, Labour and Gold or Two Years in Victoria with visits to Sydney and Van Diemen’s Land, 1855

b. i. Identify from the document two pieces of evidence that show Melbourne was a bustling settlement in 1852.

ii. Identify and explain two observations made in the document that illustrate the social attitudes of many gold rush immigrants.
iii. Based on your study of the Port Phillip District/Colony of Victoria, explain the reasons for immigration to the colony up to 1860.

Make sure that you read the instructions at the top of page 17 before you begin to analyse your Unit 4, Outcome 2 chosen representation.
A. Attitudes to Indigenous rights

The “Yes” case on both questions in the referendum should be carried today . . . Today’s vote will be a measure of the responsibility of our attitude towards Aborigines. Unfortunately, few of us are likely to do something ourselves for Aborigines. By voting yes to the question affecting them, we are at least taking this opportunity of supporting their cause. And it IS their cause. Aboriginal leaders have made it plain that they want a referendum carried. It would be an intolerable act of paternalism* to ignore their wishes. In the non-debate on this question during the campaign, the politicians have given little encouragement to feel strongly about the issue. The Prime Minister has not undertaken to use the additional legislative [power] he is seeking. Yet it is vital that he should have it. The Commonwealth will then have no excuse for failing to do more for Aborigines. There have been warnings of the damage a “No” vote would do to Australia’s image abroad, but it is as well to think first that the image would be a shamefully true reflection.

C. Attitudes to the environment
The Prime Minister (Mr. Whitlam) has made an eleventh-hour bid to save Lake Pedder, in Tasmania, from destruction.
Mr. Whitlam has asked the Tasmanian Premier (Mr. Reece) to agree to the establishment of a joint Commonwealth-State Committee of Inquiry to report alternative schemes to avoid the flooding of Lake Pedder. Mr. Whitlam’s approach to Mr. Reece is certain to gain strong support from conservationists who have mounted a long, but so far unsuccessful campaign to save the lake.
It is the new government’s first major move in the conservation field.
... Mr. Whitlam is understood to have told Mr. Reece that members of the Federal Government were concerned at the environmental consequences for Australia if Lake Pedder is flooded.
The Prime Minister pointed out that the Federal Government had some responsibility in the matter because it had underwritten the cost of the Gordon River power project, for which the lake is being flooded.
