Question 3
Characters play a major part in advancing a narrative. As a story element, the establishment and development of characters also affects how an audience engages with a text.
With reference to one or more characters in both texts you have studied this year, discuss
• character establishment and development and the relationships between characters within each text
• how character motivations affect narrative progression in each text
• how characters in both texts affect audience response to the overall narratives.
In addition to character, your answer should refer to two or more other story and/or production elements.

SECTION A – Question 3 – continued
SECTION B – Social values

Name the main text you have studied for social values this year.

Production period

Place of production

Question 1
Briefly explain how the general attitudes within a given society are linked to the media texts produced by that society.
You may refer to any media texts you have studied this year in your response.

Question 2
Outline one or more of the dominant social values held in the society at the time the main text you studied for social values was produced.
Question 3
Describe one or more of the representations in your text. You may choose to describe a representation of a character, a relationship, an institution, a social issue, an object or behaviour. You should refer to how the representations are constructed by various elements such as framing, lighting, costume, setting and sound.
Question 4
Explain the extent to which any representation(s) in the text either support(s) and/or challenge(s) the dominant social value(s) you identified in Question 2.
SECTION C – Media influence

Question 1

Due to copyright restriction, this material is not supplied.

Homer Simpson watching television

Being a ‘couch potato’ has often been the description of the state Homer Simpson is in when he watches television. ‘Veging out’ or being ‘mindless’ are other ways of describing members of audiences of many popular media forms and texts.

Explain whether or not you think these are accurate assessments of the way all audience members relate to the media.

Question 2
Identify and explain two communication models or theories which contradict each other in their assessment of how much power the media has in influencing audiences.
Question 3
As a democratic nation, Australia generally upholds the principles of a free press and media, freedom of speech and freedom of expression. Despite these general principles ‘media content’ in Australia continues to be regulated in a variety of ways. With reference to any media form and/or texts you have studied this year discuss
- the major debates about regulation and control of ‘media content’ in Australia
- some of the organisations, groups or individuals involved in the regulation of ‘media content’ in Australia and the roles they perform.
Extra space for responses

Clearly number all responses in this space.
A script book is available from the supervisor if you need extra paper to complete your answer. Please ensure you write your student number in the space provided on the front cover of the script book. At the end of the examination, place the script book inside the front cover of this question and answer book.
