

Checklist for observers during the Carson family role-play

- Do all family members have specific things to be responsible for?
- Has the allocation of these responsibilities been sensible (for example, has Aroha's age and arthritis been taken into consideration)?
- Have they planned for all four phases of preparing for bushfires?
- Has the family decided to leave early or to defend their property? How will this decision be made?
- If they are leaving, have they decided on the trigger for leaving?
- If they are leaving, what have they decided they should take with them? Have they left out any essentials and are they taking any non-essentials?
- If they are leaving, where will they go?
- Are they aware that they can get further help from organisations such as the CFA (which offers services such as property assessments) or from local groups such as a local Community Fireguard Group?
- What extra information will the family need to find out?

Checklist for observers during the Carson family role-play

- Do all family members have specific things to be responsible for?
- Has the allocation of these responsibilities been sensible (for example, has Aroha's age and arthritis been taken into consideration)?
- Have they planned for all four phases of preparing for bushfires?
- Has the family decided to leave early or to defend their property? How will this decision be made?
- If they are leaving, have they decided on the trigger for leaving?
- If they are leaving, what have they decided they should take with them? Have they left out any essentials and are they taking any non-essentials?
- If they are leaving, where will they go?
- Are they aware that they can get further help from organisations such as the CFA (which offers services such as property assessments) or from local groups such as a local Community Fireguard Group?
- What extra information will the family need to find out?